ENTER AFRICA

EURAFRICAN COPRODUCTION PLATFORM FOR VIDEO GAMES

Like the Goethe Institut we believe serious gaming can encourage young people in Sub-Saharan Africa to use game thinking as a tool to address everyday challenges. We want to create a game ecosystem that represents African Culture and reimagines African futures.

Enter Africa was launched in 2018 by the Goethe Institut and we decided to join them in this innovative project. This is a creative African network made up of interdisciplinary teams including game developers, city planners, story tellers, artists, architects and engineers in 15 African mega cities.

Our activity aims at providing education and solutions through a selective market dedicated to promising African studios and to European studios that are open to cooperation. A market that take the shape of a platform to connect, showcase, network and interact between studios, institutions, publishers and financiers.

They came out a long list of 24 studios from Enter Africa 15 countries.

A panel of pre-selection, composed by gaming and cultural industries experts from Africa and Europe, established a short list of the 6 best studios.
